

Rule Compliance

The development has been designed and assessed as a comprehensive land use proposal across the entire landholding. All buildings, roading, infrastructure, open space networks and landscape treatments are intended to be constructed and completed prior to any subdivision occurring.

When considered as a single integrated site under one ownership, the built form complies with, or appropriately addresses, the relevant Medium Density Residential Precinct and TPLM Zone standards relating to height, setbacks, recession planes, outlook, and building separation etc.

Following completion of the physical works, subdivision is proposed to create large fee simple residential lots and vested lots for roading and open space. The subdivision is therefore a secondary titling exercise that reflects ownership, management and operational requirements rather than driving the built form.

As a consequence of introducing new legal boundaries after construction, a number of technical non-compliances arise in relation to setbacks, recession planes, outlook space and building separation.

The Tables below outline the compliance of the Project in relation to the land use aspect as well as the subdivision.

For clarity all consents required for the development of the Project are sought through this application. The Project does not require consent for any prohibited activities under the RMA.

Land Use	QLPDP Rule 49.4.28 – Activities not otherwise listed	Does not comply – The café/tenancy office and car parking buildings are conservatively not considered to fall under another activity therefore require consent under this rule. Consent is also sought for temporary storage associated with construction and staging of the development, to the extent that it is not otherwise provided for by the temporary activity rules. Consent is further sought for temporary worker accommodation. The first 100 completed units will be utilised as temporary accommodation for employees of SLL or subcontractors employed to deliver the development.	Non-Complying
Land Use	QLPDP Rule 49.4.31 – Buildings within the Building Restriction Area	Does not comply – Buildings are proposed within the BRA identified on the TPLM Structure Plan. A continuous non-vehicular public access pathway is proposed within the BRA adjoining SH6 in accordance with Rule 49.4.24. However, Rule 49.4.31 independently manages buildings within the BRA, and the proposal does not comply with this rule as buildings are located within the identified BRA. While portions of the BRA shown on the Structure Plan no longer directly adjoin SH6 due to the presence of Lower Shotover Road, the BRA remains identified on the Structure Plan and the proposal therefore requires consent under Rule 49.4.31.
